TABLE MANNERS OF CHILDREN.

Young children who have to wait till older people have eaten all there is in the house, should not open the dining room door during the meal and ask the host if he is going to eat all day. It makes the company feel ill at ease and lays up wrath in the parent's heart.

Children should not appear displeased with the regular courses at dinner and then fill up on pie. Eat the less expensive food first and then organize a panic in the preserves afterwards.

Do not close out the last of your soup by taking the plate in your mouth and pouring the liquor down your childish neck. You might spill it on your bosom, and it enlarges and distorts the mouth unnecessarily.

When asked what part of the fowl you prefer, do not say you will take the part that goes over the fence last. This remark is very lumorous, but the rising generation ought to originate some new table jokes that will be worthy of the age in which we live.

Children should early learn the use of the fork and how to handle it. This knowledge can be acquired by allowing them to pry up the carpet tacks with this instrument, and other little exercises such as the parent mind may suggest.

The child should be taught at once not to waive his bread around over the table while in conversation, or to fill his mouth full of potatoes and then converse in a rich tone of voice with someone out in the yard.
He might get his dinner down his throat and cause his parents great anxiety.

In picking up a plate or saucer filled with soup, or with moist food, the child should be taught not to parboil his thumb in the contents of the dish and to avoid soup bones or other indigestible debris.

Toothpicks are generally the last course and children should not be permitted to pick their teeth and kick the table through the other exercise. While grace is being said at the table, children should know that it is a breach of good breeding to smudge fruit cake just because their parent's heads are bowed down and their attention for the moment turned in another direction.
Children ought not to be permitted to find fault with the dinner or fool with the cat while eating. Boys should before going to the table empty all the frogs and grasshoppers out of their pockets, or those insects might crawl out during the festivities and jump into the gravy.
If a fly wades into your jelly up to his gables, do not rush him with your spoon before all the guests, as death is at all times depressing to those who are at dinner and retards digestion. Take the fly out carefully with what naturally adheres to his person and wipe him on the table cloth. It will demonstrate your perfect command of yourself and afford much amusement for the company. Do not stand up in your chair and try to spear a roll with your fork. It is not good manners to do so and you might slip and bust your crust by so doing. Say "thank you" and "much obliged" and "beg pardon" wherever you can work in these remarks, as it throws people off their guard and gives you an opportunity to get in your work on the pastry and other brioche near you at the time.—Laramie Boomerang.

Card.

To the Public and Whomsoever it may Concern:

I have this day sold to the John W. Lowell Wagon Company, of which I am president and principal stockholder, my good will and stock in trade and buildings.

I take this occasion to tender my sincere thanks to the public at large for their generous patronage for the eleven years I have been in business here, and especially to those warm friends who have taken such an interest in my welfare. But few days have elapsed for years without some new customer saying to me: "I was recommended to come to you by Mr.
—, a friend of yours." Kind friends, your friendship, sympathy and assistance will never be forgotten.

Messrs. Justin E. Morse, John Farmer, Martin O. Johnson and Carlin D. Joslyn, who are the other directors and own the balance of the stock of the new company, are all young men who have been in my employ from four to seven years, and are pretty well known to the general public. We shall continue the same line of business as heretofore, and I trust that the John W.
Lowell Wagon Company will merit and receive a fair share of public patronage.

Yours, very respectfully,
JOHN W. LOWELL.

What Mothers Say.

The keen parental instinct is sharper in its perceptions than the tutored brain of the philosopher; therefore, when mothers say, as they universally do, that there is nothing like HALE'S HONEY OF ROSEHOUND AND TAR—for the Coughs, Colds, hoarseness and croupy symptoms to which children, from their imprudence are especially subject, no man who understands human nature will discredit their testimony. For sale at
